

WIDOW OF WAR ENEMY COMES TO HIS RESCUE

Mrs. Longstreet Offers to Raise Money So That General Sickles Can Pay His Debts.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, widow of the famous Confederate general, came to the aid of her husband's civil war foe, General Daniel E. Sickles today with an offer to raise the money and pay the alleged debt to the State of New York among the "ragged and maimed followers of Lee."

Sheriff Harburger, who arrested Sickles in a civil suit brought by the state to recover the money also indited a letter to many of the richest men in New York asking them to aid the aged veteran.

The sheriff dealt gently with the prisoner. Instead of serving the order of arrest this morning, he waited until Sickles lawyer arranged with a surety company for a $30,000 bond for the veteran's freedom. He then went to the general's house. "Well General," the Sheriff greeted him, "it's a bit of formal business today. You know I have to serve you with these papers. I am sorry I have to do so but I have no choice."

"It is all right" Sickles replied, tossing the unopened order and complaint on the library table. "You are one of the best friends I've got, Sheriff."

The General signed the bond in a flowing hand. "That handwriting is not so bad for a man more than 92 years," Sheriff he commented. There was a fee of five dollars owing to the county for the service of the papers. Sickles summoned Miss Edith Wilmerding, his housekeeper to pay it. She came into the room with her hands full of pennies but tripped on a rug and scattered them on the floor. The general assisted her in picking them up and shook hands with the Sheriff when he departed.

ABOUT THROUGH TALKING READY TO FIGHT AGAIN

Balkan Allies Notify Turkey That They Propose to Break Off Peace Negotiations.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The special committee appointed by the Balkan envoy drafted a note notifying the Turkish plenipotentiaries that they propose to break off the peace negotiations.

The note in brief informs Turkey that unless she has fresh proposal to make the allies see no alternative but to terminate the negotiations indefinitely.

Reched Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation tonight said he regretted the obstinacy of the allies, because "while Bulgaria doesn't need Adrianople neither for defensive nor offensive purposes, the town is indispensable to Turkey on account of its history and sentimental and religious associations."

Sulzer is on Trail of Stock Exchange

In Inaugural Address He Says That It Is Time For the State to Correct Flagrant Abuses.

By Associated Press.

ALBANY, Jan. 27.—State supervision and regulation of the New York Stock Exchange and other exchanges were advocated by Governor Sulzer in his message to the legislature tonight. The time is ripe in the Governor's opinion for the state to step in and end the "flagrant abuses, shifty schemes and clever combinations to catch the unwary and mislead the public." He recommends the enactment of a group of laws which shall provide imprisonment as a penalty for violations. The testimony of some of the governors of the exchanges (Money Trust Committee) he says "leaves no doubt in the minds of men that the exchanges have been incapable and unwilling to devise measures that would effectively eradicate the evils. Now the obvious duty of the State is to devise the remedies."

ELECTORAL VOTE OF ARIZONA MISSING

Webb Fails to Show Up in Washington Within the Time Limit and Baby State Has Lost Its First Opportunity to Help Elect a President---Last Heard of In St. Louis, Missouri.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—"Lost—Electoral vote of Arizona and its bearer. Find and please send at once to the office of the Vice-President of the United States."

The Senators and Representative of the baby state, Arizona, sent broadcast tonight the foregoing notice when the 6 o'clock time limit, expired for receiving the returns of the national election, and Wilfred T. Webb, custodian of three perfectly good votes for Wilson and Marshall failed to appear.

Arizona's patriotic legislators are much perplexed and disappointed for though there will be no political upheaval should the three little votes never be found, they did not want them missing from history's archives as Arizona's first vote for the chief executive of the nation.

Webb left Phoenix ten days ago and was last heard from at St. Louis four or five days ago.

ATHLETE ADMITS HE IS NOT AN AMATEUR

Thorpe Played Baseball For Money Three Years Ago

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—James Thorpe the Indian athlete and Olympic champion admitted that the charges of professionalism against him were true in a letter sent to the registration committee of the Amateur Athletic Union which met today to investigate the case. He admitted he played baseball on a professional team three years ago.

The Olympic hero admitted playing ball in North Carolina during vacation not for money, but love of the game. He didn't know it was wrong as other college men played. Thorpe's winning of the Panathlon Decathlon events at Stockholm and later his wonderful performances which won the all-around championship stamped him as the most marvelous athlete of modern times. He will be obliged to return all trophies won and the standing of the Olympic games will be revised giving the men first places who were second to the Indian. The loss of points won by Thorpe still leaves a wide margin for the United States at the Olympic games.

Andy Was Troublemaker In the Steel Business

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Testimony in support of its contention by the government that Andy Carnegie was a troublemaker in the steel trade and that the Carnegie Steel was taken over by the Steel Corporation because of his refusal to abide by agreements, was given in the dissolution suit today by Ex-president Scranton of the Lackawanna Steel Co. He declared Carnegie's methods created a general feeling that it would "be a godsend if Carnegie was out of the business."

His Last Request Will Be Observed

Congressman Smith Asked No Committee From the House Be Appointed To Attend His Funeral.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Representative Needham of California, who formally announced the death of his colleague, Sylvester C. Smith, in Los Angeles, told the House that before leaving Washington for the last session Representative Smith expressed the wish that the custom of sending committees to attend funerals be dispensed with in the event of his death. Upon hearing the announcement the House adopted resolutions of regret and respect and adjourned no committee being appointed.

Militant Women On the Rampage

Suffragettes Determined to do Damage Because Franchise Bill is Dropped In House of Commons.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—England is on the brink of another suffragette campaign in comparison with which the former outbreaks of militant women will appear insignificant.

Two thousand policemen were engaged tonight in dispersing huge crowds gathered near the Parliament buildings and shopkeepers were boarding up their windows while excited women were making incendiary speeches in several halls. The women believed they were tricked when the franchise bill was dropped in the House of Commons today.

Mrs. Pankhurst's denunciation was fiery and bitter. She asserted women would consider human life as sacred but would do as much damage to property as possible. Others advocated the smashing of both property and heads.

Mrs. Despard, who was arrested tonight said at a meeting: "We are up against man-made laws. We are going to show that the law cannot and shall not bind the women, by breaking the laws in every possible way. All who are in the front of the movement do not care what happens to themselves."

The government appears to have decided to drop the question of reform altogether for the present. Mrs. Despard was given her liberty on bail. A number of those arrested

NEW MILL STARTS.

W. L. Roberts, who is in the city from the Alto mines near Skull Valley, states that the new mill has completed a test run of about five tons of ore, and the results were satisfactory. The yield was free gold, and later it is his intention to install tables for concentrating. With a few adjustments and the perfecting of the water service the plant starts up on a continuous run from the big dump and ore to be developed. He is very much elated over the outlook.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—A terrific explosion of dynamite early today shook the houses for miles around the church of St. Sulpice in southern Paris. A great fissure was opened in rue De Serves and electric surface lines there were destroyed, but nobody was seriously injured as far as reported.

The explosive is believed by the police to have been taken from the construction work for a new subway by workmen recently discharged.
